

VAN SANT PAYS HIGH TRIBUTES TO ANCIENT FOE

IN FORMALLY OPENING THE BUSINESS OF G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

SCANS DIMINISHING ROLL

And Makes Recommendations—213, 901 Members Still in Good Standing—Pensions and Memorial Day Discussed.

OPPOSE DOLLAR A DAY PLAN

The pension committee of the Grand Army today reported to the National Encampment, commencing the proposition of congress to grant each union veteran a pension of at least $1 a day for life. The committee made an adverse report on the ground that such pensions would be too expensive to the government. The report recommends that the widows of veterans be given increased pensions and that those of veterans above the age of 70 be increased.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 22.—With a noble tribute to the soldiers of the Confederacy, Commander-in-Chief Samuel R. Van Sant, today, formally opened the business session of the forty-fourth National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. He expressed his gratification at the increasing fraternalization of the "Blue" and the "Gray" and dwelt quite as earnestly upon the future good that the great organization which he has commanded might accomplish as well as the notable achievements of its glorious past.

While the roll of the Grand Army is steadily shortening, the Commander-in-Chief urged that every effort be made to keep the organization up to the fullest possible strength. He quoted the figures showing that the G. A. R. at the beginning of the present year had still 213,901 members in good standing, as against 220,600 at the beginning of 1909. The loss during the year was 6,701, of which 5,323 was by death. The Commander urged that recruiting measures be taken among the large number of former Union soldiers who are not enrolled as Grand Army members.

Memorial Day. The speaker noted a better general observance of Memorial Day than formerly. "Let us insist and do all in our power," he said, "that Memorial Day shall be devoted solely and only to the purpose for which it was created. Let it be the one day of the year devoted to honoring our 'dear dead' for in that way we will teach the rising generation love of country, without which our nation cannot long survive." He also urged the general observance of G. A. R. members in inducing a general observance of Flag Day.

Honor to Sons of Veterans. The Commander-in-Chief had commended for the work of all the G. A. R. Auxiliaries, praising the excellent work being done by the Woman's Relief Corps, Ladies of the G. A. R., Sons of Veterans and Daughters of Veterans. Of the Sons of Veterans, he said:

"This can be made a still grander organization. It is constantly increasing in numbers and influence. The Sons of Veterans with proper encouragement should soon be the largest patriotic body of men in the world. That it may be my earnest wish. The Sons of Veterans should have all the encouragement possible from the Grand Army of the Republic. It is a matter of great satisfaction that the Sons meet with us this year. I trust our National Encampment in the future be held at the same time and in the same place."

Pension Legislation. Of the more liberal pension legislation recommended by the last annual encampment and urged at Washington by its committee, Commander-in-Chief Van Sant said:

At regret that nothing was accomplished, but it was not of the Committee. Congress has not passed any general pension legislation. However, some six thousand private pension bills were enacted. The committee emphasized the matter industriously with Senators and Representatives, but to no purpose. The Government was facing a deficiency in its revenues and retrenchment and the strictest economy was the watchword. This was the reason given for non-action. In my judgment, in view of the changed conditions in our country's financial affairs, if this Encampment should again recommend this measure, it would likely pass.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 22.—Interstate Commerce Commissioner Lane today indicated at the rate hearing that the railroads would have to meet the problem of constantly increasing cost of operation by some other means than that proposed, namely, an increase of the rates to meet an increased cost of service. Warrants were served on Fitzgerald at his office, 159 LaSalle street, and he was taken to the office of United States Marshal Luman T. Hay in the federal building and held in custody. Two hours after his arrest he was arraigned before Judge Kenesaw M. Landis in court chambers. Bail was fixed at $50,000 and in default of it Fitzgerald was committed to the county jail. Conviction on the indictments allows a penitentiary sentence not greater than 10 years or a fine of $173,000, or both.

In International Fight For Chanler's Prospective Estate

MME. LENA CAVALIERI'S BRO. F. CHANLER, J. ARMSTRONG CHALONER.

New York, Sept. 22.—The fight between the world famous opera star, Mme. Lena Cavalleri, and William A. Chanler for the possession of the Chanler estate has already assumed international proportions and aggressive defensive and offensive preparations are being made on both sides. It is known that in accordance with a pre-nuptial pact Chanler's prospective estate was to a greater or less extent decided over to the beautiful Cavalleri. Her brother, Orestes Cavalleri, is in America now to defend his sister. Should it be found that "Sharlie" has in reality decided away his patrimony a plea of insanity will undoubtedly be entered and the eccentricities of his brother, J. Armstrong Chaloner, will be pointed to in this connection.

For some months past, he has served as president of the naval general court-martial at the Boston navy yard. His retirement resulted in the promotion of Captain John C. COLORADO PROGRESSIVES WIN.

Indorse Initiative and Referendum and Nominate Stephens.
Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 22.—Progressive Republicans won a victory in the Republican state convention, which concluded its sessions here last night after nominating a full state ticket, headed by John H. Stephens for governor. In one of the sharpest fights in the history of the party in this state they prevented the adoption of a resolution condemning the initiative and referendum and secured instead a plank favoring its submission to the people.
The national administration was indorsed; Senator Guggenheim was commended for his work in congress relating to the upbuilding of the state, and the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill was accepted as a fulfillment of the pledge of the national Republican platform for revision downward, but it was declared that tariff changes will be necessary and that these "should be made as speedily as possible."

International Prison Congress Delegates Visit Mansfield Institution.
Mansfield, O., Sept. 22.—After a delightful day at Niagara Falls, the foreign delegates to the International Prison congress, and the American delegates who are escorting them on a tour of this country, arrived in Mansfield at 7 o'clock this morning. They had been invited by Governor Harison, on behalf of the people of Ohio, to inspect the state reformatory here, which is considered one of the best institutions of its kind in America. The special train stopped close to the reformatory and the party went directly to the institution for breakfast as the guests of Supt. J. A. Leonard and the board of managers. The entire morning was then given up to an inspection of the reformatory and its methods, and at 1 o'clock luncheon was served.

The Just Man and the Unjust.

The just man or woman fears nothing; the wicked fears everything. Above all he fears death as the portal of another world of which he stands in dread; whereas the good man welcomes death as the sureness from earth's cares and sorrows and the hope of a happy immortality beyond the grave.

It contains no condemnation of the national Republican administration.

INSURGENTS.

Much is in a name and it sometimes happens that the title applied to men who differ on questions of public policy becomes an epithet with harmful tendencies. During the Illinois campaign, years ago, the term "insurgent" was freely applied to men out of harmony with the party, and in our own state, more recently, the brand of "stallwart" and "half breed" slandered republican ranks in twain, and severed the life long friendship of families and neighbors.

Just now the nation is in the throes of what is called insurgency and the men responsible for the movement, as well as their supporters, are styled "insurgents".

The men known as "insurgents" were so much in the minority that the title died with the failure of the movement, and the terms "stallwart" and "half breed" spent their force with no desire to resurrect their harmful influence.

The new movement styled "insurgency" but more properly progressive, is sweeping over the nation like a tidal wave, and men not in sympathy with it can not do less than recognize the fact, for it has not yet spent its force.

It may engulf the administration and wash out party lines, but it is here as an irresistible force. The men who started it may have been prompted by personal ambition, but the volume which it has gathered represents the rank and file of the people. The movement represents an uprising which has not yet taken any definite form and shape, but it is here impelled by a force behind with the thought that the common people are about to come into their own and that the standard of civic righteousness must be advanced.

Men may honestly differ on questions of public policy and the conservative element throughout the country may be disturbed over the outlook, but it is well to remember that the interests of the American people are mutual and these interests are in the hands of Americans.

The Wall Street Journal one of the most able and most conservative financial papers in the country thus sums up the situation. The Journal was progressive when Wall Street was in the throes of reform and its judgment is based on experience. The paper says:

"A few years hence and we shall find ourselves wondering why the attitude of the progressive section of the Republican party excited such intense bitterness. There is nothing immoral in insurgency such as that of a Dilliver or a Fowler, although to judge by the New York Sun and other worshippers of the vested interest, some wrong has been inflicted when one section of a party grows strong enough to enforce its views upon the rest.

"This is the normal working of party government, and in no other self-governing country in the world would the insurgent be abused like a pickpocket, irrespective of whether the changes he desired were wise or not. Insurgency obtains in any democratic condition, and the name merely begs the question.

We are a nation of insurgents, and if we are to continue to hand on the traditions of the unshattered farmers of Lexington, most sensible people will believe that the evidence of national vitality afforded thereby is well worth the sacrifice of Mr. Cannon's much-loved job, or even of the services of a number of politicians who must pass into private life.

"Our whole national life is insurgent. There is an insurgent element which keeps Wall Street clean. Some insurgents terrified the 'regulars' and 'stand-patters' of 1905 by an attack upon financial methods of a kind not easy to characterize politically. That insurgency changed the government of Wall Street. Out of its consequences there arose a party conservative but progressive, independent but loyal, which has been able in the past five years to shape the policy of the financial center to the greater advantage of the whole country.

"We are all of us a great deal too scared of names, most of which mean rather less than nothing. Anybody who wants to take the hand of privilege out of the public pocket is called an 'insurgent', and told that he is undermining the conditions of business. The sympathies of this newspaper are essentially conservative, but there are certain phases of 'business' which it would gladly see undermined with a stick of moral dynamite. We would even undergo the terrible peril of being called an insurgent therefore.

"What is wanted and needed is the most direct expression of public opinion, if the popular will is to prevail as it ought to prevail. If insurgency will test the old shibboleths and cast new light upon new problems, we, for our part, are humbly grateful. The moral gain even before the election is beyond price, and the interruption of a certain kind of 'business' seems to us to be a trifle to pay for such an advantage."

THE OTHER SIDE.

Sir George Doughty of London, who accompanied President Hays of the Grand Trunk on his annual inspection tour, says:

"You can't have cheap prices and dear labor at the same time. If you take off your duties you will be flooded with foreign goods produced at one-tenth of labor cost of your own. That will mean that you will simply have to reduce wages as well as cut down your production. Then will come unemployment. That is the greatest sore spot on our English economic system today. Things will be different in England in three or four years. I am a tariff reformer myself—one of Chamberlain's lieutenants during fifteen years in the House of Commons, and I assure you that we are going to have duties for revenue and duties for retaliation."

People who are howling for a sweeping reduction of the tariff may do well to remember that radical changes affect American labor first and with the most serious results. Cheap prices and high priced labor never go together in this or any other country as labor enters more largely into the cost of production, than any other item.

"The nation had a taste of this during the last Cleveland administration when the country was flooded with cheap goods and the empty dinner pail was a sad reality. Some lines of goods may be overprotected but we can afford to make haste slowly when labor is considered."

Lester M. Shaw, formerly United States Treasurer and now engaged in building in Philadelphia was in New York the other day and to a suggestion that some things should be said now-a-days which he could say effectively, he demurred that he was not directly out of politics. Mr. Shaw said, nevertheless, that he was impressed with the cautious attitude of the Street in general and that the explanation was to be found in the fact that the industries of the country have had notice served upon them that they were to undergo another tariff revision. In his judgment there was no hope for business improvement as long as the tariff agitation is resumed so soon after the revision which was substantially acceptable to the mass of voters of the country. Business could not be expected to look far ahead under such circumstances. The best it can do is to take the fewest chances and bide its time to see what the attitude of Congress may turn out to be toward laws under which business is now conducted.

"This is a conservative view of the situation and generally shared by men who have business interests at stake.

Colliers Weekly continues to run the government with a free and easy hand. President Taft is becoming a little weary, but Colonel Roosevelt shows no signs of tiring, and it may be many moons before the ambitious New York publication gains complete control.

The new tariff commission is finding it difficult to gather facts concerning the cost of production, as both the home and foreign manufacture decline to furnish this class of information. This is not surprising as business secrets are not usually open to public inspection.

The nation has lost the service of a good man in the defeat of Congressman James A. Tawney of Minnesota. The primary law and democratic support to his opponent was responsible. Tawney was chairman of the ways and means committee and one of the most able men in the house.

The leading article in Hampton's Magazine for October is on the failure of the Taft Administration. The wisdom of sorrow of those long haired writers is beyond compare.

If there is no open breach between the president and the man with the big stick, it will not be the fault of the newspapers, which are encouraging the scrap.

Uncle Walt

THE POET PHILOSOPHER
By WALT MASON.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew Adams.)

One man was given a misfit face by the gods that fashioned the human race. His chin was long and his nose was square, and his side was coarse and his mouth was wide, and horses looked at that face and shied. But his heart was good and his thoughts were clean, and he loved the true and abhorred the mean; the years went on, and the soul within—the soul of a man who hated sin—lit up that face till it seemed to shine with the beauty rare of a face divine. One man was given an angel face by the gods that fashioned the human race. And he took the road with a downward grade, he roamed afar where so many strayed; he played the dice and he held enormous, was false to men and to all his vows. His thoughts were all of the fell delights of the heated days and the world's night. The years went on, and the soul within—the soul of a man who courted sin—had written down on that scarp face a record hard with a long disgrace; and people said as he tottered past: "What a fiendish mug on that poor content!"

Heart to Heart

Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

GET THE HABIT.

One of the most valuable lessons of life is contained in this:
Face the Issue!

Whatever needs to be done, however difficult or distasteful, if in the end it must be done, then end the matter by doing it.

There is no place in life for an artful dodger. Do not try to dodge the pitcher's ball. Swat it!

The longer you postpone a present responsibility the graver it grows and the less able are you to meet its requirements.

Grab it, as you would a horse, by the forelock, and you may lead it. Take it by the tail and you are likely to be hoist by a petard.

Do not allow your mind to form the habit of shirking an obligation or you will make a coward of your mind.

Accustom your mind to meet your obligation and you have won half your battle.

If when the lawsuit is called the defendant dodges the court he is beaten by default, without a show of defense.

And it is so of life. Delay, postponement, shirking, cowardice, ruin men. They are whipped before they begin to do.

Often it happens that the man who gives his lions for the conflict finds on his arrival that his contestant is absent, and he has things his own way.

Or if the other is as prompt and brave as he fights it out, and may the best man win! He has his fighting chance.

Stand four square!

Not only will you be the better able to do the thing by going at it when it is due, but you will be the stronger by doing it.

You will get into the habit of succeeding, and success, mind you, is more of a habit than you think for.

Get the habit!

He who boldly challenges difficulty and discouragement, daring them to do their worst, finds when he confronts them that all his powers of manhood are evoked, his past successes have grown cumulative, and he is inspired to win.

Face the duty!

If it is necessary to fight Macduff, why, the only thing to do is to cry: "Lay on, Macduff!"

Improved Coloring Materials.
The distinguished German chemist, Ostwald, has taken out a German patent for the improvement of drawing inks and water colors. He has found out that by the addition of small quantities (from 1 to 100 to 1 to 1,000) of volatile organic compounds of the aliphatic series, which are soluble in water, at least to a small extent, and contain not less than four atoms of carbon, inks and other water colors are rendered capable of readily marking such surfaces as parchment, ivory, waxed paper, etc. In the case of neutral liquids an alcohol, ester or other neutral substance is used, while in acid inks, free fatty acids, such as valeric or caproic acid, may be added.

Virtue of Forbearance.
To be able to live peacefully with hard adverse persons, or with such as go contrary to us, is a great grace, and a most commendable and manly thing.—Alcibiades in Xenophon.

Why the Sun Sets.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

WHAT is there about marriage that makes folks forget they were human once, too?

That pretty little girl with the big married sister wants me to write on that.

She says she's sure that there's lots of young folks like herself who'd be pleased to know why it is that when their sisters and girl friends get married and settle down, no matter how desperately flirtatious, how farcically indiscreet and convention-baiting and fun-loving they were before the ceremony, after it they almost invariably develop into Madame Grundles, who is very plaintive about it.

"It's bad enough when they're first married," she says, "but after the babies begin to come it's worse. Then they're hopeless."

"Before my sister was married, she used to tell me all her love affairs and flirtations and I used to sympathize and be interested, and try to smooth things over when she needed it—keep mother from worrying when she came home from enquiring or motoring later than mother liked—and cheer her up and help her out when she got into any silly little scrapes."

"Well, by and by she found the right man and was married and settled down and began to raise a family and in the meantime I grew up and began to have flirtations and love affairs of my own."

"And, of course, at first I took them straight to sister. I thought she'd sympathize with me and help me out when I needed it."

"Did she? Guess not. My dear, she was shocked at the thickest little things. Instead of helping me out or smoothing things over for me, she was always telling mother that I ought not to do this or that—all things that she always did before she was married. Once she was at the house when I came home from a canoe trip an hour later than I expected and instead of telling mother that it took a long while to get the canoe in and the cushions put away, and that the cars are so apt to be late, she worried worse than mother did and had mother at worked up."

"And then she thinks it's so terrible to be frivolous and wanting to trot about all the time. As if she wasn't twice as bad before she met Jack. And then, before she was married sister always used to be so ready to stand up for a girl when anyone was running her down. She said one ought always to give a girl the benefit of the doubt unless you absolutely knew something against her. And now she is just as quick to be suspicious, and just as unwilling to believe that a girl is good, in spite of appearances, as anyone."

"And it isn't just sister either. She's such a splendid girl in most ways that I thought maybe that was a saving fault that she had developed to keep her from being too good to live, but when two of the girls that I chummed around with were married and changed the same way, I saw it was just the fatal ceremony."

"Why is it, do you suppose?"

"Does it have to happen, or is there any way of dodging it?"

I wonder.

Leader Of Southern Women To Oppose Panama Expo Tax

LEADING SOUTHERN WOMEN OPPOSE TAX.—MRS. ROYDAN DOUGLASS.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 22.—Influential women of New Orleans threaten to antagonize the proposed tax of $7,500,000 for the Panama Canal Exposition on grounds of unconstitutionality and privilege as taxpayers. Mrs. Roydan Douglass, president of the Era club, one of the most important women's organizations in Louisiana, has announced that the club purposes formulating such opposition. Other members of the club state that they disapprove of a plan to lay such a heavy levy on property owners through the votes of the mass of non-taxpaying men.

"We are opposed to the special tax," stated Mrs. Douglass, because it is a heavy burden which must continue many years, and we who are to carry a great part of it are not to be permitted any voice on the question of imposing it and no say in directing the manner in which it shall be spent. We oppose it under the constitution of 1898, which provides that the women of Louisiana shall not be taxed without their consent. We shall consult able lawyers on the subject before taking definite action."

The article of the constitution to which Mrs. Douglass referred reads as follows: "Upon all questions submitted to the taxpayers as such, of any municipal or other political subdivision of this state, the qualifications of such taxpayers as voters shall be those of age and residence prescribed by this article, and women taxpayers shall have the right to vote at all such elections, without restriction in person or by property."

BETRAYING CONFIDENCES.

By MARY RUSSELL.

The habit of telling your neighbor, confidentially, all the small secrets your girl or boy confides to your ear alone, is a most abominable one.

"I am not surprised that Dorothy does not tell her mother anything she does," remarked a friend of Dorothy's. "Her mother thinks she is so bright and that everything she says is so 'cute,' that she can't resist telling it."

Suppose she does say absurd and amusing things—is that any excuse for a mother to go about telling the things that her child has told her because it was natural to be confidential with her mother? The trouble is that the other mothers think it is funny, and they tell it to their children. They even use her and her little scraps as lessons for the things not to do, and they make mighty sharp comments. Then the other girls go straight to Dorothy and say her about it. Her mother would think that was a terrible breach of confidence, I reckon, but she was the first to break the seal. No, I don't blame Dorothy for cutting her mother out. She is sweet, and dear, but she talks too much."

"And I do not blame Dorothy either. Who would keep on confiding in a leaky, sieve-like person? No one but the vain individual who thinks she is worthy of publication in all her moods and tempers. A Mary MacLain or a Marie Bashkirtseff might enjoy the publicity, but the average modest American girl would feel outraged in her finest and deepest feelings."

Mothers are more likely to be guilty of this particular kind of betrayal than fathers, and yet, how many men are able to keep a funny story that is amusing and precocious about either boy or girl, if the opportunity for telling it appears? Our own children are so interesting to us. Their little problems in psychology and social ethics are so amusing. We go about with our mouths agape at their unbuttoned and unbuttoned wisdom, which is far beyond their years. We tell our little stories because we feel that they are so valuable to humanity. There are writers who make copy out of their children. Their ostensible reason is for the guidance and instruction of all other parents in the wisdom of their course in training such brilliant and unparalleled minds as have come under their immediate, forgetting that the average man or woman can duplicate and overtop that mind and all the experiences out of their own household. It is an indecency and outrage against the child to thus place it under the microscope of the world's opinions. Where is the real hope of confidential relations between a mother and a child after that child finds it is merely regarded as "copy?" How can any child respect and love a parent who will wantonly print all the little love makings and revealings of soul that makes the relation between parent and child ideal? To betray the child's heart secrets in such a wanton manner is to destroy the greatest safeguard for its future happiness.

I am afraid we would all have to plead guilty to the charge, in a more or less degree. It is our loving admiration which has proven our downfall, but it is never too late to attempt to restore what we have destroyed. The fine flavor may be somewhat destroyed, and the confidence may be a little restricted, but if we really try we may still prove ourselves worthy of entering into that most wonderful and sacred holy of holies—a child's heart.

Curiosities of Smell.

No substance that refuses to dissolve in water has an odor. It is the actual substance itself, floating in particles in the air, that appeals to the nose, and not simply a vibration of the air, as in the case of light and sound. The damper a thing is, the more powerful the odor it gives out. A pleasant proof of the fact can be had by walking in a garden after rain. There is no end to the curiosities of smell. It is, for instance, the vapor of a liquid that smells, and not the liquid in the mass itself. If you do cologne be poured into the nostril the nose refuses to recognize any odor there at all.

DAILY DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN Food Specialist

CURING BY SUPPRESSING SYMPTOMS BEING ABANDONED.

"Disease is a blessing," Sir Frederick Treves says—a blessing in disguise seldom recognized. Pain is the expression of an effort on the part of the natural forces to restore normal conditions. Hence the mistake of suppressing pain, as by patent medicines. The cause of the disturbance should be removed. A change from an improper diet to a simpler one that will allow of the appropriation of more vitality for the restoration of the normal state of health is necessarily followed by those symptoms which are the result of the activity of the natural forces seeking to restore health. The constant suppression of symptoms by drugs or by improper food develops chronic disease. In fasting the vitality is largely devoted to house cleaning, in setting things in order, and this activity is easily misunderstood. Symptoms are indications of how nature is working to restore normal health, and a proper understanding of their meaning will more frequently indicate the possibility of encouraging them, when we guard against suppressing diarrhoea. The old idea of curing disease by suppressing symptoms is being abandoned.

If you find any substance in your baking injurious to health made from baking powder in this can there is—

$1000 In it for you

Calumet has been backed for years by an offer of $1,000 for any substance injurious to health found in the baking prepared with it.

Does not this and the fact that it complies with all pure food laws, both State and National, prove that Calumet is absolutely pure?

With the purity question settled—then Calumet is undoubtedly the best Baking Powder. It contains more leavening power; it is more uniform—every can is the same. It assures better results—and is moderate in price.

Archaeological Discovery.
A record of very great interest concerning the celebrated siege of Jerusalem by Vespasian's army, under the command of Titus, has been discovered in upper Egypt, consisting of a wooden panel, with raised borders, or frame, bearing a Latin inscription of some fifty lines, of which thirty-seven are still perfectly legible. Apart from its historical importance this relic, with the exception of the tablets found at Pompeii, containing some accounts of a banker there, is the most valuable specimen ever found.

(Special to the Gazette.)

City of Mexico, Sept. 22.—The formal dedication of the University of Mexico made this one of the most notable days in the long program of festivities celebrating the centennial of Mexican independence. President Diaz presided over the opening ceremonies, surrounded by the elite of the social, educational, literary and artistic circles of the Mexican capital. The presence of numerous foreign delegates gave to the event an international aspect. Among the colleges and universities of the United States represented either by their presidents or faculty members were Yale, Harvard, Cornell, Columbia, Johns Hopkins, and Syracuse universities and the Universities of Texas, California and Pennsylvania.

HILL CLIMBING

Food That Makes It a Pleasure.

"I have a large amount of laborious brain-fueling work to do," writes a young lady from Richmond, Va. "After returning from the office I am found myself so completely exhausted that I was unable to engage in any recreation or amusement."
"I tried several expensive tonics without effect, and finally noticed an advertisement of Grape-Nuts as a food recommended to brain workers. I purchased a package and tried it."
"I found it extremely palatable, and after a week's use (two meals of it a day) I noticed a general improvement in my condition. The feeling of extreme exhaustion was growing less, and strength visibly increased."
"I began to put on flesh and felt ready to enter into the amusements of the other members of the family, and now after using the food for eleven months, I am like a new person. I do not have the sensation of fatigue; my brain is clear; eyes bright; skin rosy and healthy, and my muscles have strengthened to a marked degree."
"I am now able to walk from the office home, a distance of 3½ miles, up one of the steepest hills for which our city is famous, and to engage in any amusements that may come in my way."
"I am also using Postum with excellent results. My sister-in-law, who lives in Norwalk, Conn., writes me that she uses it also, and has not suffered from the distressing sick headaches she formerly had."

FARMING IS THE NEWEST COURSE
AT HIGH SCHOOLINSTITUTION ONE OF THE FIRST TO INCLUDE AGRICULTURE IN CURRICULUM.

EIGHT STUDENTS ENROLLED

Seed-Corn Chosen As Initial Subject of Critical Inquiry—Prof. A. B.
West Is in Charge.

Cute in line with the modern trend toward an ascendancy of the practical, and significant too of the rapidly with which local institutions are adapting themselves to the most modern of modern ideas, is the establishment of this year of a new course of agriculture at the Janesville high school. Eight students, most of them freshmen, with a few sophomores, enrolled at the opening of school this fall and intend to pursue it the full four years. The course is instituted with a purpose to giving the scholars a good working knowledge of up-to-date, scientific farming, and is approved of by the state superintendent of schools, and many prominent men in the state, including W. D. Howard of Fort Atkinson, who is an ardent advocate of the system. While agriculture, in an elementary form, has been taught in some schools, it has remained for two of them—the Janesville and Plymouth high schools—to set the precedent for other institutions of the kind in the state, by inaugurating a full four-year course. The idea seems to be gaining in general favor and in a few years undoubtedly, most of the public high schools will have taken up the work.

The time of the students, under the new system, will not be entirely given over to the study of agriculture, although that is to form the backbone of it. Some of the subjects now required in the other courses, such as algebra, geometry, civics, history, and English, will have to be studied. Other subjects are largely optional, so that, if the student so desires, credits can be secured on the study of foreign languages, and he will be assured of admission to the state university.

As the experiment is in its infancy no special apparatus has been purchased, and the text books and resources of the physical and chemical laboratories at the school, are expected to suffice for all immediate needs. The variety of crops raised in Rock county will give the students an opportunity to study husbandry at first hand, and the first year of study, is to be devoted to the subject in its general aspects. Agricultural botany will be taken up the second year; agricultural chemistry, the third year; and the fourth year will be devoted to the study of agricultural physics, horticulture, animal husbandry and agronomy will be introduced in the course within its scope.

Prof. A. B. West has taken charge of the first year's class and the students are beginning with a consideration of seed corn. An exhibit which has been sent from the state college of agriculture includes both defective and perfect specimens, all properly labeled. Last Friday the professor, and the class did field work in the state fair in connection with their study of the selection of seed corn, addressing their attention particularly to the prize-winning ears exhibited there. The class has manifested considerable enthusiasm over the course and the probabilities are that next year there will be a much larger number of students enrolled.

ROBBED IN BELOITCharles Abblett, Employed by City of Beloit, Relieved of $20 While Sleeping in Stable.

While asleep in the City stables at Beloit Tuesday night, Charles Abblett of this city, employed as a night watchman by the city of Beloit in street cleaning work, was robbed of twenty dollars in cash, which he had placed in his stocking. Abblett had left Janesville on the 9:15 car and on arriving in Beloit went to the stables for a nap before going on duty. He placed the money in his stocking for safe-keeping, but when he awoke it was gone and an officer was notified. Two young men, whom Abblett identified as being near the stables, when he arrived from Janesville, were arrested on suspicion and $19.50 was found on them. The two, Joseph Garrison and John Baker, were taken into the Beloit municipal court yesterday, charged with the theft and their preliminary examination was set for Friday morning. They furnished bail of $500.

This event will be held September 29th, 30th and October 1st and should attract many visitors to this city on those days.

That these visitors may be more impressed with the exhibits, and carry away a better story of the progressive and hustling of Janesville, this committee feels that much good can be done if extra efforts are put forth to decorate the store fronts with bunting and flags.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Monroe, Wis., Sept. 22.—Miss Edna Lewis, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Granville Lewis, of this city, passed away yesterday morning in the White Sanatorium at Freeport, where she was taken two weeks ago in the hopes that her health might be benefited. She has been a sufferer from tuberculosis which confined her to her bed for seven months. During all her period of sickness she has never complained and was always hopeful that she would get well.

She was born near Postville, town of York, in 1892. She leaves besides her parents, three sisters and three brothers, Mrs. E. A. Ryan and Mrs. George Stauffer, of Schultz, Jacob Lewis and Edward Lewis, of Monroe and Andrew Lewis, of Haugen. The remains were brought here from Freeport last evening and taken to the family residence on East Washington street.

Child Strayed Away.
A three-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Schmechger, living on Racine street, wandered from home and got nearly to the Alfred Hawthorne farm, south of Monroe, before it was picked up by Simon Sauerbaum, on his way to this city from Winslow. A number of passersby noticed the child crying by the roadside but did not pay any attention to it. Residents living on the edge of town were told of the child by Mr. Sauerbaum and it was brought back to its parents.

PRESSED HARD
Coffee's Weight on Old Age.

When prominent men realize the injurious effects of coffee and the change in health that Postum can bring, they are glad to lend their testimony for the benefit of others.

A superintendent of public schools in a Southern state says: "My mother, since her early childhood, was an inveterate coffee drinker, had been troubled with her heart for a number of years and complained of that 'weak all over' feeling and sick stomach."

"Some time ago, I was making an official visit to a distant part of the country and took dinner with one of the merchants of the place. I noticed a somewhat peculiar flavor of the coffee, and asked him concerning it. He replied that it was Postum. I was so pleased with it that, after the meal was over, I bought a package to carry home with me, and have since procured some for the next month. The whole family liked it so well that we discontinued coffee and used Postum entirely."

"I had really been at times very anxious concerning my mother's condition, but we noticed that after using Postum for a short time, she felt so much better than she did prior to its use, and had little trouble with her heart and no sick stomach; that the headaches were not so frequent, and her general condition much improved. This continued until she was as well and hearty as the rest of us."

"I know Postum has benefited myself and the other members of the family, but in a more marked degree. In the case of my mother, as she was a victim of long standing."

At the Myers theatre tonight the big "Parada" carnival of opera, superbly costumed and mounted, with 200 local amateurs singing, acting, and dancing in the spot-light, opens its three nights' engagement. Popular interest has been enlisted in the presentation of this entertainment under the direction of Capt. Charles W. Eddy, by reason of the fact that a portion of the proceeds are to go towards a fund for a new hospital.

In the "Pageant of Nations," Nine will be cast as "Dables" in a floral spectacle; twenty will appear in the "Floral Arch," sixteen as "Fables," six young ladies and six young gentlemen in "Flowers and Bees," and sixteen young ladies as "Belles."

Bonbons and flowers will be sold in the playhouse by a coterie of volunteers whose services have been secured by Miss Lillian Baumgardner and the entire receipts from this source will go to the hospital fund. The ladies who have offered their services are Miss Baumgardner, chairman, Mrs. J. H. McVear, Mrs. G. G. Dawn, Mrs. Mark Murphy, and Mrs. T. P. Burns.

Bertha Kallisch, the gifted Jewish cantorial artist who delighted Janesville audiences in "The Kreutzer Sonata" and "Martha of the Lowlands," will make her first appearance after a retirement of eighteen months in "The Woman of Today" by Samuel Shipman.

Rare songs, like rare poems, are sometimes found in the most obscure places. The greatest hit in "Our Miss Gable" entitled "Come, Thy Goldfish," was discovered in a heap of old manuscripts in Paris, by Fred Wright, three years ago, when he was searching for a duet for "The Prince of Pilsen," in which he was then starring in the French capital.

"Sire," the new play in which Ode Skinner is to star later this season, is the first notable work from the pen of M. Henri Lavedan since, "The Duel," in which the romantic actor also appeared. The drama is inspired by the pathetic story of the lost Dauphin, whose disappearance during the French Revolution is one of the profound historical mysteries.

The play in which Rose Stahl will act this season, when she is done with "The Chorus Lady," will be about a sublimely in a modern department store, and will be called "Maggie Pepper." Charles Klein is writing it.

Lady De Balder, better known as Lily Langtry, has emerged from private life and has announced her intention of returning to the stage. She will make her reappearance at a London theatre, playing the principal part in a modern melodrama.

David Belasco will produce William de Mille's political play, "The Machine."

Robert W. Chambers' "The Thing Line" has been dramatized.

The True Home.

Homes are not built of brick and mortar. It is the people, not the places, that make the homes; the face of a smiling woman, the patter of tiny feet and the music of children's voices, even the barking of a dog and the human look of joy at our coming bring us the nameless charm that we call "home."

You Can Be Made Well If You Will Come to the Chiropractors

Every disease known to mankind yields to Chiropractic adjustments. Chiropractic is a science of old truths, the most wonderful aid to mankind in centuries. It's a new science, that analyzes and locates minutely the physical cause of disease, and provides a means of adjusting or removing this cause more promptly, radically and permanently than any other method known at the present time. These things seem bold statements to make. Yet there is plenty of proof.

R. Puddicombe to back them up. If you are sick and suffer, if you have tried the medical profession and failed to be cured, come to us. Ninety-eight per cent of the people that come to the Chiropractors are made well, and this notwithstanding the fact that 75 per cent of these same people have been given up by the medical profession.

Call for an examination and advice in regard to your troubles. Even though slight, they may be nature's danger signals of serious ailments.

If Your Neighbor Has Electric Light and you have not, just step into his house some evening after dark and compare its light with your own. Study each point of convenience, cleanliness, clearness, beauty carefully, then figure out for yourself if it would not pay you well to have your house wired for electric light at once.

Electric light today is cheaper and better than ever before, since the General Electric Company placed its MAZDA lamp on the market. We have arranged to supply our customers with the G. E. MAZDA lamps on very favorable terms. These lamps give two to three times as much light as other lamps using the same current.

If your house is located on any of our distributing lines we shall be glad to advise you about having it wired and will give you more facts about the efficient electric lighting of your home.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, September 22, 1870.—Southern Wisconsin Exhibition. Second Day.—The morning of the second day of the fair brought vast crowds of people from the surrounding country, who thronged the various roads leading into the city at an early hour, the dusty columns of carriages and wagons corralling in the center of the city, from which an unbroken line of teams and foot passengers extended to the grounds, where the exhibition was in progress. The rush of visitors far exceeds the anticipations of the officers of the society, but the enclosed grounds are sufficiently large to accommodate all those who come. Articles for exhibition continued to arrive during the forenoon, and Floral Hall was literally packed with a display of articles which has never been exceeded at any previous fair held in this city. At twelve o'clock a Sunday school delegation, consisting of three wagon loads of men, women and children, from the town of Center, arrived and entered the grounds to the music of a martial band, displaying flags and banners. A commissary wagon containing rations for the delegation brought up the rear.

Cattle of the Devon breed, class 11, went to the exhibition first at 10:30 o'clock this morning; class 12, Alderneys, at 10 o'clock; milk cows and all in class 13 at 10:30; at 11 o'clock horses for general purposes, class 2.

The annual address will be delivered tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by Hon. Chas. G. Williams, of this city. The lady show, which is the great feature of tomorrow's exhibition, promises to be of an interesting nature.

Among the new kinds of machinery, is a combined and improved wind and elder mill, exhibited by the patentee, H. H. Goucher, Esq., of Janesville.

The same exhibitor has in the Fine Arts Hall, a splendid case of millinery goods. "Let there be light," and who says there shall not be, when the Doty Gas Generator can be put up in churches, hotels and residences, and the rate offered by Doty & Doty, who have one of the most beautiful machines on exhibition, ever manufactured by them.

Wednesday Afternoon.
In the afternoon a large attendance of spectators gathered at the grounds, their presence manifesting that, notwithstanding assertions to the contrary, the people are interested in the success of the fair.

The exhibition of thoroughbred horses took place within the ring at 2:15 o'clock.

Blonded horses exhibited at 2:30 o'clock; C. C. Howman, Janesville, first premium, pair of road horses.

Trotting Race: Dick, a gelding, owned by A. A. Green, Beloit, carried off the prize. Best time 2:55.

Running Match: The running race, which came off at four o'clock, was the most interesting feature of the afternoon program, and a large crowd was gathered about the judge's stand to witness the start. The following are the entries made: Van James, Monroe, "Kitty Stacey," Daniel Howe, "Johnny," "Limerick," "C. J. Shumans, Monroe, "Wild Bill." The horses got off on time, Kitty Stacey leading the entire distance, and making the mile in 1:17. The second and third heats were taken by Limerick in 1:58 1/2 and 1:54. Wild Bill drawing off at the end of the second heat.

Count De Orville exhibited his performance on the light rope during the progress of the race, performing various feats in mid-air, which were entertaining in their way, and added to the interest of the afternoon exercise.

Among the new kinds of machinery, is a combined and improved wind and elder mill, exhibited by the patentee, H. H. Goucher, Esq., of Janesville.

The Scripture lessons are full of pitfalls for the children, if would seem, "What was the first thing Noah did when he came out of the ark?" was a question put to a tiny girl in Sunday school. "Please, miss, he buried all the drowned people," was the unhesitating reply.

GAS, DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION AND ALL OTHER STOMACH MISERY GOES

Take a little Diapasein now and your Stomach will feel fine five minutes later.

If your meals don't sit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating, and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, or sensations of sour, undigested food and acid; heartburn, burp or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas, which sour your entire meal—interfere with digestion and cause so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Milionsiasis, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your cure is in no different; you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapasein will cost fifty cents at any Pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapasein will regulate any out-of-order Stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly without any fuss or discomfort, all of any kind of food you eat.

BEER

Is a Liquid Bread It Tones and Builds up the System

Liquid bread is the name that has been given by eminent physicians to beer of good quality. That the name is justified is proven by the chemical analysis of beer. One quart of Golden Crown Beer contains one-tenth to one-fifth of a pound of solid food substances, consisting of:

1. Albumen, 40 to 124 grains.
2. Nutritious Salts, especially the all-important phosphates.
3. Extract of malt, which constitutes the greater part of the solids.

These ingredients make Golden Crown Beer a strength-giving food, a tonic and a powerful aid to digestion.

Golden Crown Beer contains only 3 1/2 per cent of alcohol. It is a food.

We Guarantee the Flavor of GOLDEN CROWN BEER

Beer is more often judged by its flavor than its purity. We are so sure that you will like the delicious flavor of Golden Crown Beer that we guarantee it.

To accept this guarantee—order a case of Golden Crown sent home today. Try three bottles.

Then, if the flavor doesn't please you, send the balance back and we will refund the whole cost of the case.

That's the way we want to acquaint you with the most delicious bottled beer brewed. We take all the risk.

Golden Crown Beer is a pure beer. It is made of the purest materials—in a clean, sanitary brewery.

A good proof of the purity of Golden Crown Beer is its clearness. Hold a bottle to the light and you can see through it.
